

The University has received a free trial access of Reaxys (Elsevier) for the period of 14th Dec – 1st of January. Please see the below link for detail and contact Dr. Sachinkumar Modha of Department of Chemistry for further queries, if any. An online “Workshop Series on Software in Chemical Science” has been organized by Department of Chemistry where various experts will provide in detail information about software that are highly useful in Chemical and Biological sciences. During this workshop Dr. Bodas Mandar will provide training on Reaxys search engine. You all are encouraged to participate in this workshop to learn more about Reaxys and Scifiner search engines and other useful software. One can register for free by following the below link. I hope all of you will take advantage of this opportunity.
