Approximately 120 educators from Surat engaged in a teacher's training program. All instructors had university-level training and conducted trips to the institution. A teacher training program occurred at Uka Tarsadia University on October 10, 2024, engaging over 120 educators from Surat. A considerable proportion of educators expressed their conviction that all teachers have university-level training. At 8 a.m., a contingent of educators came from Surat via bus, subsequently followed by a meal provided for all participants. The show began at 9:20. The University's Public Relations Officer, Mr. Parth Parmar, offered insights into the institution's numerous departments, including comments from the Director of Department of Humanities.

The ensuing program was directed by Dr. Rozy Patel. The curriculum necessitated her participation in many activities. The workshop started with participants devising intriguing team names to use throughout the sessions, followed by engaging activities that included clay and stick moulding. Additionally, participants were presented with video snippets that necessitated comprehension and interpretation, accompanied with a workshop on Emotional Intelligence for educators to integrate into their everyday teaching practices.

Subsequent to at noon, educators were guided to the ladies' dorm for their lunch. Subsequent to the intermission, educators were guided on a tour of the institution, where they were acquainted with many departments, including the library, agricultural, and laboratory facilities. Vice Chancellor of Uka Tarsadia University, Dr. Dinesh Shah conveyed his salutations to the educators and wished them goodbye after the tea and breakfast assembly at 3:30 PM. They were conveyed back to Surat via bus.
