

Farewell to Amrendra Sir

It is always very saddening when a good teacher leaves. Students of BBA and B.Com quietly organized a surprise farewell for Shri Amrendra Pandey –senior faculty member of B V Patel Institute on 30th August 2011- his last working day at the college. To the utter surprise of every one a large number of students showed up with flower bouquets after the prayer assembly and took control of the mike. Students gave a befitting and sentimental farewell to their favorite Amrendra Sir by presenting him flowers, reciting poems for him and reading their farewell messages with tearful eyes. All the boys and girls expressed their gratitude to Amrendra Sir who was not only their English teacher but also a source of inspiration for all. Student said that they were going miss him and his thundering commands “Over Here’ and ‘Attention, Stand at Ease’ during assembly every day.

The scene touched everyone present there. A big cake was also brought on the occasion for Mr. Pandey. Sir was asked to cut the cake and celebrate the good times everyone had with him. Every one wished him a bright future.

Amrendra was moved by the love and affection showered by seven hundred students whom he was going to leave shortly. He fell short of words when addressing the students. With a choked voice he thanked the students for their affection and asked them to work hard to build their career. He too became quite senti and said that for him too it will be difficult to settle down at new place and he will always cherish in his memory the wonderful time he had spent here during last five years. The building was echoing with “આવજો સર”.
